

Apply with Scoir Student Experience Guide

How to use this guide

This guide provides a view into the student experience using Apply with Scoir. We walk you through step by step how questions will be presented to students for both core, non-configurable and configurable sections. Use this guide along with the Application Profile Specification Guide to determine what information you would like to collect from applicants through Scoir.

Core Sections

Information collected in the required, core sections are received by every college using Apply with Scoir. It contains basic information about an applicant, such as name and contact information, family details, and high school information.

List of Core Sections

- Personal Information
- Contact Information
- Fee Waiver
- Family Information
- Citizenship
- High School Information
- College Information
- FERPA
- Additional Information
- Overview
- Confirmation

Configurable Sections

How and what Application Details you choose to collect beyond the core sections can be configured in Scoir. The collection of information such as demographics, coursework, and activities is dependent on your configuration.

Use of standardized test scores, military fee waivers, transfer guidelines, and additional notes to applicants can also be configured and have an impact on the student experience.

List of Configurable Sections

- Demographic Information
- 9th-11th Grade Coursework
- 12th Grade Coursework
- In-Progress College Coursework
- Completed College Coursework
- Additional Exams
- English Proficiency Tests
- Honors and Distinctions
- Activities and Experiences
- Coalition Essay
- Standardized Test Scores
- Military Fee Waiver
- Transfer Guidelines
- Additional Details
- Supplemental Details

Table of Contents

The content in this guide appears in the order in which students will be presented with the questions. Look to the bottom of each page to see whether the question is a part of a core or configurable section.

Personal Information

Why do we ask for legal sex?

We're required by federal guidelines to report the legal sex of each applicant as male or female. Typically, this is the sex indicated on your birth certificate. You may also provide additional information in the Gender Identity field. Some colleges may ask further questions about this topic, and/or sexual orientation.

SAT/ACT Requirements

Colleges handle SAT/ACT scores differently. Some require scores, some are test-optional, and some are test blind. Here's how the colleges on your list handle SAT/ACT scores:

Drexel University requires SAT/ACT scores and accepts self-reported scores

Colorado College is test-optional and does not accept self-reported SAT/ACT scores through Scoir

Colby College is test-optional and does not accept self-reported SAT/ACT scores through Scoir

Bates College is test-optional and does not accept self-reported SAT/ACT scores through Scoir

Arizona State University (Main Campus) is test-optional and accepts self-reported scores

Allegheny College is test-optional and does not accept self-reported SAT/ACT scores through Scoir

Reminder: Only your highest scores will be shared with colleges.

Add any activities or experiences you'd like to report

We know that you're more than a student and that you spend time outside the classroom in many different ways. You might have work or family responsibilities. You might be active in sports, music, volunteering, or a variety of clubs and organizations. You might participate in a summer activity or research opportunity.

Please start by sharing the 2 experiences outside of your academic program that are most important to you. You should only share experiences and activities that have been particularly meaningful (up to a maximum of 8).

About FERPA Waiver

We'd like to notify you about your rights to information relating to your college applications, and we'll need you to answer a question before you proceed. When you apply to college, your application file typically includes information considered to be confidential, such as letters of recommendation and notes made by college admissions officers. Under regulation known as the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act, you might obtain the right to access some of this information. These rights only apply to documents held by the college you attend, so it is unlikely you will have a need to see them. Colleges prefer to know that the information they compile in your application file will remain confidential, so we are asking you to sign the following "waiver" to give them this assurance.

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) is a Federal law that protects the privacy of student education records and gives students/parents certain rights with respect to reviewing and challenging education records.

Share your story

This section is required by Drexel University and 1 other colleges on your list

Essay

As part of your application, some colleges require an essay. There's no perfect length, but usually 500-650 words does the trick. Everything about you won't fit into this one essay, and that's okay. The best prompt is the one that brings structure to your unique story and allows your voice to shine through.

Select a prompt from the list below

- ☐ Tell a story from your life, describing an experience that either demonstrates your character or helped to shape it.
- ☐ What interests or excites you? How does it shape who you are now or who you might become in the future?
- ☐ Describe a time when you had a positive impact on others. What were the challenges? What were the rewards?
- ☐ Has there been a time when an idea or belief of yours was questioned? How did you respond? What did you learn?
- ☐ What success have you achieved or obstacle have you faced? What advice would you give a sibling or friend going through a similar experience?
- ☐ Submit an essay on a topic of your choice.

Please enter your essay

We recommend copying and pasting your finished essay into the text box below.
